

AVERUS FIRE PREVENTION SERVICES

Confidence is knowing your employees, customers and property are protected.

Fire prevention services refer to the equipment within a business that is designed to mitigate fire events to save lives and property. Everything from extinguishers, sprinklers, and pull-stations to emergency lighting; each of these items is regulated by codes through organizations like OSHA and NFPA as well as maintenance procedures designated by manufacturers. According to OSHA, there are 70,000 to 80,000 work place fire events each year in the US alone, with property loss of $2 billion annually. So, when it comes to your business and your people, you want the best, the experts that won't cut corners to protect profits, the professionals that make prevention and code compliance easier to understand and make facilities, employees, customers and assets — more safe!

EXIT & EMERGENCY LIGHTING

OSHA and Life Safety 101 code require yearly testing of emergency and exit lighting. AVERUS can perform testing, make repairs, and replace/add items to ensure you meet these requirements.

FIRE EXTINGUISHERS

Did you know that there are OSHA codes that relate to your extinguishers? The type of extinguisher, location, size, even the color — are all part of codes — which you are supposed to know and we're all expected to follow. Our fire prevention technicians are here to help, to make sure you comply, and most importantly that you'll have functioning equipment, right where it's supposed to be, if you ever need it.

FIRE SUPPRESSION SYSTEMS

Did you know there is a minimum of 32 service steps to assure your system is correctly maintained? Our technicians inspect your fire suppression equipment twice a year, in accordance with manufacturer guidelines, NFPA 96, NFPA 17A and your local/state codes. We will also repair and can install suppression systems as well. Whatever the job, we're here to make the process as painless as possible.

BACKFLOWS, FIRE ALARMS & SPRINKLER SYSTEMS – WE'VE GOT YOU COVERED!
